

Pareto 2023 Annual Academic Event

Epitome is the Economics Society of Shivaji College, University of Delhi. Society strives for creating and exploring the dialogue for thought-provoking and insightful intellectual economic discussions.

The core team of Epitome, together with students and faculty of the Economics Department triumphantly organized the annual fest, Pareto 2023 on the 20th of April 2023. The inter-college fest had an enthusiastic start with the inaugural session which took place in the auditorium in the college premises. About 250 students attended the event with students from different academic backgrounds like Business Economics, Mathematics, and Political Sciences, and from different colleges in Delhi like Lady Shri Ram College, VIPS, Satyawati, Aurobindo, and many more.

The event began with auspicious lamp lighting seeking blessings, followed by the principal's address to the audience. This was followed by a lecture delivered by the chief guest speaker, Prof. Sujoy Chakravarty, on the topic "Behavioural approaches to Development Economics" wherein he spoke about the different behaviors associated with this branch of economics and how it helps to accomplish the goal of better fiscal, economic, and social conditions of developing countries. He also answered questions from the students in the audience and addressed the queries eloquently.

The flagship event, 'Economist of the Year' had three rounds: The preliminary Quiz, which was held online that tested participants based on their economic knowledge, the second round was the Policy Conclave, the policy framing competition where the participants put forth their arguments on different economic policies and events judged by the faculty of the Economics Department, and finally the third round, Econ Clueminati, a treasure hunt competition where the teams put their wit into practice and found clues to reach the ultimate solution. A team of two participants from Shivaji College won the EOTY 23.

Besides this, another academic event, 'The Case Crusade' – a case study competition where the teams presented their best solution using economic principles and models, to the problem statement they were given. The event witnessed an overwhelming response of 150+ registrations, of which 10 teams were shortlisted to perform in the fest. The event was judged by the faculty of the Economics Department. The winning team and runner-up team were from Delhi Technological University and The Lady Shri Ram College, respectively.

The day came to an end with a photograph session with the organizing team and faculty, awarding the winners and a vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Sumeet Singh Raheja.
